Parkside Elementary School

Midway Elementary School

The City of Des Moines attracts families and homeowners with award-winning public schools, and gorgeous newly renovated school buildings throughout the local Highline School District. The new Mt. Rainier High School is a stunning state-of-the-art facility complete with multiple gymnasiums and the latest computer technology, as well as the acclaimed International Baccalaureate program.

Aviation High School was recently listed as one of the nation's Top Fifty High Schools, and represents an exciting collaboration between the Highline School District and private donors. Des Moines neighborhoods also benefit from the presence of three brand-new elementary school buildings, and a fourth in the planning stages. Both ethnic diversity and success characterize the local academic climate - Parkside Elementary, at the south end of the City, is home to the District's "Challenge Program" for top young scholars.
